

College of Arts and Sciences
Religion and Philosophy Department

Assessment Plan
2005

The goal of the assessment plan of the Religion and Philosophy Program is to provide faculty with on-going and meaningful information to help improve learning outcomes. The following assessment procedures are used:

1. Senior Project Assessment

- Senior projects are evaluated using a common rubric by faculty who supervise the projects.

2. Senior Exit Surveys

- Seniors who are ready to graduate complete the Senior Exit survey

3. Alumni Survey

- Alumni are surveyed every five years regarding their current educational status and about their satisfaction with learning outcomes

4. Syllabi Evaluations

- Syllabi are evaluated every five years using a common rubric to identify how well classes address program goals and objectives

5. SWOT interviews

- Periodically, internal and external stakeholder are interviewed to help identify strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats of the program