ONLINE COURSES

Are you ready to take an online course? Online courses can be challenging and will require you to dedicate approximately eight to ten hours of your time per course per week. It is important to organize your time to include homework, research, and electronic communication. Even though you may not meet your instructor or classmates face-to-face, you need to be a good team player. Online courses involve electronic collaboration and virtual teamwork.

- Students are expected to have daily access to a computer that meets the technology requirements for an online course.
- Students are also expected to have the technology skills to be successful in an online course.
- Synchronous Sessions: Your online course may require synchronous sessions. A synchronous session means all the students in the course must be logged onto Blackboard and actively engaged in the required activity on the scheduled date and time. Synchronous session dates may, or may not, be known at the time this schedule is published. Please refer to the instructor's syllabus posted in Blackboard for more information.
- Minimum Enrollment: Online courses require a minimum number of registered students. If the course does not reach the enrollment minimum, the course will be cancelled the first week of the term. Students are advised to register promptly.
- Maximum Enrollment: When the maximum enrollment for an online course is reached, no further registrations will be allowed in that CRN. Students are advised to register promptly.
- Class Starts the First Day of the Term. Students must register before the term begins to be ready to start the course in Blackboard on the first day of the term. Be sure to purchase your textbook(s) two weeks prior to the first day of class to ensure you are prepared to start promptly.
- If there is more than one section (CRN) of the same course offered, students registered in one CRN may be moved to a different CRN in order to balance class sizes.

WRITING WORKSHOP

The LaFetra College of Education at the University of La Verne offers a free writing workshop to help students improve their written communication skills. A student is identified to participate in the workshop based upon the score he/she received on the writing assessment done at the time of admission. A student receiving a writing assessment score of two (2) on a 4-point scale will be required to take the Writing Workshop. We must limit the workshop participants to only those students who scored a two (2).

The Writing Workshop is a seven-week online course offered through Blackboard. Offering the workshop through Blackboard makes it convenient. Students may log onto Blackboard at any time of day or night. Each week offers a different module of instruction with writing assignments due each week. Students will be given another writing assessment at the conclusion of the course.

A passing score on the writing assessment is required before you can...

- register in EDUC 464, EDUC 474, EDUC 476, and EDUC 468.
- be approved as an Internship Teacher.
- be considered for admission (or readmission) to the M.Ed. Special Emphasis degree program.

Your academic advisor will contact you if you are required to participate in the Writing Workshop. All communication regarding the online Writing Workshop will be done through @laverne.edu email accounts.

Web Registration: Participants in the online Writing Workshop will register in the CRN listed below. It is a zero-unit CRN, so no fees will be charged. It does not count for financial aid, because it is zero units. This course will not be recorded on your transcript. By registering in the CRN below, you will be added to the Blackboard course. It takes approximately 24 hours for the Writing Workshop to be loaded onto your Blackboard account; therefore students must register prior to the workshop's starting date.
